Mylan Shareholders Overwhelmingly Approve Proposed Combination with Upjohn

99.6% of Shares Voted in Favor of the Transaction

HERTFORDSHIRE, England and PITTSBURGH, June 30, 2020 – Mylan N.V. (Nasdaq: MYL) today announced that its shareholders overwhelmingly voted to approve the proposed transaction combining Mylan and Upjohn, a division of Pfizer, at the company's extraordinary general meeting of shareholders. Approximately 99.6% of votes cast were voted in favor of the combination.

Mylan Executive Chairman and Future Viatrix Executive Chairman Robert J. Coury said: "The near unanimous support we have received from our shareholders with 99.6% of shares voted in favor of this transaction truly validates the extensive analysis and time invested by the board's strategic review committee, and the full board, in identifying the right opportunity to unlock the true value of our one-of-a-kind platform as well as accelerate Mylan's next exciting phase of growth. The overwhelming endorsement we received from shareholders only further bolsters our confidence in the value that we believe the new company will deliver, and we are very excited to soon create Viatrix, expected in the fourth quarter of this year."

Coury continued: "Viatrix will be launched with a robust new business model, focused on total shareholder return. With an enhanced balance sheet and financial flexibility, we will be able to implement a more shareholder-friendly capital allocation policy starting with a dividend of at least 25% of our free cash flow following Viatrix' first full quarter after close. We also look forward to introducing Viatrix' new, unique GLOBAL HEALTHCARE GATEWAY™, which will offer partners ready access to more markets and patients worldwide through the company's unmatched global infrastructure and expertise, making Viatrix a true Partner of Choice™."

Coury closed: "With this significant milestone behind us and our permanent financing now in place, we look forward to obtaining the remaining regulatory approvals and completing the transaction."

Mylan will file the vote results in a Form 8-K with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission.

The transaction is subject to customary closing conditions, including receipt of the remaining required regulatory approvals.

Non-GAAP Financial Measures

We are not providing forward looking information for U.S. GAAP reported financial measures or a quantitative reconciliation of forward-looking non-GAAP financial measures to the most directly comparable U.S. GAAP measure because we are unable to predict with reasonable certainty the ultimate outcome of certain significant items without unreasonable effort. These items include, but are not limited to, acquisition-related expenses, including integration, restructuring expenses, asset impairments, litigation settlements and other contingencies, including changes to contingent consideration and certain other gains or losses. These items are uncertain, depend on various factors, and could have a material impact on U.S. GAAP reported results for the relevant period. Historical non-GAAP financial measures may not be directly comparable to future non-GAAP financial measures that may be used by the combined company.

This press release includes the presentation and discussion of certain financial information that differs from what is reported under U.S. GAAP. Free cash flow, which is a non-GAAP financial measure, is presented in order to supplement readers' understanding and assessment of the combined company. References to free cash flows are to U.S. GAAP net cash provided by operating activities minus capital expenditures. Management uses non-GAAP measures internally for forecasting, budgeting, measuring its operating performance, and incentive-based awards. Mylan believes that an evaluation of its ongoing operations (and comparisons of its current operations with historical and future operations) would be difficult if the disclosure of its financial results was limited to financial measures prepared only in accordance with U.S. GAAP. We believe that non-GAAP financial measures are useful supplemental information for our investors and when considered together with our U.S. GAAP financial measures provide a more complete understanding of the factors and trends affecting our operations. Readers are encouraged to review the most directly comparable U.S. GAAP financial measures and should consider non-GAAP financial measures only as supplements to, not as substitutes for or as superior measures to, the measures of financial performance prepared in accordance with U.S. GAAP.
